Annual Prize-Giving

For the first time for many years the day of Convocation and the Baccalaureate Service dawned sufficiently dull and overcast to cancel the traditional plans for outdoor ceremonies, and the morning was spent carrying chairs, tables and prizes to the Amaron Gymnasium. The weather held out, however, for the academic procession to the service at Centenary United Church. Led by Dr. O. Glass, Principal of Bishop's University and this year's speaker and Mr. Cayley the line of boys and staff moved off from Colby House, on schedule, at 10.40 a.m. A record turn-out of parents and friends of the school filled the church to capacity to participate in the closing service and hear the address of Dr. Glass.

After church the gathering processed over informally to the Gymnasium for the Prize-Giving. Mr. Eric Webster, Chairman of the Board welcomed the visitors and after a further few words turned the meeting over to Mr. Cayley for his last ceremony at Stanstead College.

One of the first high-lights of the Prize-Giving was the presentation of a silver tray from the Board of Trustees to Mr. Donald Hackett for 36 years of teaching at the College.

The last high-light was the presentation of a bouquet of roses to Mrs. Cayley during which she was given a standing ovation. Earlier in May the Cayleys received a painting landscape from the Board and at another reception, a set of decanters from the staff of the College.

The various athletic and academic awards were given out by different members of the Board of Trustees who were in attendance with the addition this year of certificates of academic achievement. This allowed recognition to those boys who often miss the top positions—and prizes—and yet reach high levels of scholastic proficiency.

Afterwards all were invited to a buffet lunch excellently served by Mrs. Banks and the College kitchen staff and, due to clearing skies, enjoyed outdoors.

The Romance of Chemistry

On Tuesday, May 17, the school was fortunate enough to have as its guest Mr. Douglas Walkington, an industrial chemist, and representative of Canadian Industries Limited. This was another in the series of career lectures given throughout the year. He was to give a lecture describing the attractions of chemistry as a career but so inspiring was his talk that he may well have changed the destiny of many of us present. He described the advances made in industry through chemistry in the last half-century. He displayed a large selection of articles which have added to the ease and comfort which we now enjoy.

For forty five minutes the school was held spell-bound. In this short time Mr. Walkington proved himself not only a chemist but a historian, sociologist and orator as well. The lecture to the boys of Stanstead was the last before his retirement and we hope that our response was as pleasing to him as his lecture was to us.

David Johnston

Final Athletic Assembly

On the night of June 3 the last Athletic Assembly was held in Pierce Hall with Mr. Cayley, the headmaster, as guest speaker. The Assembly was conducted much the same as others in the past with one exception. This was to be Mr. Cayley's last assembly.

First of all Mr. Ayasse of the "lucky" Angels presented his awards to members of his softball team. We were reminded that this was the fourth year in a row that they had been winners.

Most important of all were the presentation of the school letter to the various winners. This Assembly presented Doug Lamont and Peter Raymond with their Lettermen Sweaters. Others who were also presented with bars to their letter were, Tom Wrathall, Peter Weintrager, Captain Tom Garland, Lindsay Black, Hersh Gottheil.

Mr. Cayley spoke briefly, but movingly, on a brief resume of some of the better teams of this year. Finally he spoke on the place of athletics at Stanstead, and the final Athletic Assembly of the year was closed.

Peter Sharp

Chan Yee Sang

Once again this Stanstead had been supporting through its Chapel offerings, their foster child in Hong Kong, Chan Yee Sang. Upon comparing this year's picture with that of last year we can see how much Chan has grown up. He remains at the top of his class and his ambition is to become a doctor. We at Stanstead feel that if, through our monthly donation to Chan Yee Sang, we can make this wish possible we have accomplished a great deal.

Easter Townships Track Meet Sherbrooke

On the strength of a very impressive showing in the Junior Class Stanstead College returned the Skinner Trophy to the College after a year's absence. Stanstead accumulated 90 points in the overall standing to win this coveted trophy. Cowansville High School followed in the standings as the second highest aggregate of the meet chalking up 79 points ahead of Sherbrooke High School who amassed 63. B.C.S. was a close fourth with 61 points.

It was evident from the start that this was to be Stanstead's meet. In the first two events Stanstead placed first and second in the Junior Class to gain 16 points. The prospects never looked better as Stanstead started the day on a winning note.

Some of the more outstanding athletes who helped pave the way towards a Stanstead victory were as follows: In the Midget Class, Andy Schwab winner of the 880 and Ian McLaren third in the 880 and fourth in the 440. In the Juvenile Class Captain Tom Garland—first in the 880—second in the 440. Clifford Lusby—winner of the open mile for the second year in a row. Peter Raymond second in the 880 and second in the 440. Tom Asselin—first in the shot put. The Juvenile 880 relay team comprised of Cliff Lusby, Jim Stockwell, Peter Raymond, and anchored by Alan Kitchen. This team arrived a very close second to the team from B.C.S. The Juvenile team from Stanstead were the high aggregate and winners of the Jean Maysenhoelder trophy.

In the Junior Class: Hersh Gottheil first in the 100 and 220, second in the shot put and discus and third in the high jump. He won the individual high aggregate and was awarded the J. S. Mitchell Trophy. Tom Wrathall—first in Shot put and discus with records in both. Doug Lamont fourth in 880 and fourth in the pole vault. Louis Raymond—second in the 880 and third in the 440. Peter Weintrager—first in the 440, second in the 100 and 220. Lindsay Black first in Broad jump, second in high jump. The mile medley relay team was made up of Peter Weintrager, Hersh Gottheil, Tom Garland, and Lindsay Black.

The Junior Team also won the team high aggregate winning the Warren Lynch Trophy.

The spirit exhibited by all boys on the Stanstead Track Team was extremely high throughout the day; and because of this, and the self sacrifice of the previous week's athletic prowess they were justly rewarded by being the top team of the day.

Outstanding performances were turned in from boys in all classes. In the Midget Class a high-light was John Shanks winning the 220 yd. dash coming within 4/10 of a sec of the record with a time 26.4. Ian McLaren won the 440 yd. dash with a time of 60.8 sec. and Andy Schwab took the 80 yd dash in 2 min. 20 sec.

In the Juvenile Class the excellent rivalry between Peter Raymond and Tom Garland was worth watching. Tom won the 220 yd dash in 25 sec. and the 440 yd dash in 55.6 sec over Peter. Meanwhile Peter went ahead to win the 880 yd dash with a time of 2.08 over Tom. Peter also won the mile open with a surprising upset over Cliff Lusby with a time of 5.16 min.

Finally in the Junior Class Peter Weintrager won the 440 yd dash in 56.8 sec. Hersh Gottheil proved he was valuable in track as well as field by winning the 100 yd dash in 11.05 sec and the 220 yd dash in 24.3 sec. Tom Wrathall won both the discus and shot-put with tosses of 110 ft and 46 ft 1 in.

Once again much thanks must go to Mr. Phillip and Mr. Boyd for making the track meet the success that it was.

Inter-House Track Meet

The day of Saturday May 14 dawned bright and early for the annual Inter-House Track Meet. Both Houses were well represented on the entry forms and it seemed to be the general consensus of all, that no particular House would walk away with the three classes.

By 9:00 A.M. it looked as if everything was ready to go. The staff was out in force for this occasion. Mr. Hackett, straw cap and all, could be seen at the broad-jump pit. Mrs. Galambos was ready at the score board and Mr. Phillip was busy on the loud speaker.

Everything proceeded smoothly and by noon 140 tired boys were told in the dining room that only five points were separating the Houses in the various classes.

However as the afternoon wore on Colby House strength began to show and when the final tally had been evaluated Colby House had won all three classes.

They defeated Davis House in each class by the following margins. !

Midget—Colby 61 Davis 57

Juvenile—Colby 67½ Davis 61½

Senior—Colby 76 Davis 53

The individual High Aggregate in each class was as follows.

Midget—Ian McLaren 15 pts.

Juvenile—Tom Garland 19 pts.

Junior—Herschel Gottheil 19 pts.

The Cadet Inspection

This year's cadet inspection fell on May 7, and compared to last year we were not so fortunate with regard to the weather. The day dawned crisp and cold with an inch of fresh snow on the front lawn. Fearing that it would not melt in time, the boys took it upon themselves to sweep the area of the parade square, clear of the snow. Surprisingly, this did not subtract from the pride of the day, and actually tended to give an even greater sense of satisfaction and accomplishment.

As in most years, the period of two weeks before the inspection was filled with hectic, last minute preparations, and general perfection of the parade. It was a busy for all with a lot of normally spare time occupied with extra drill. In fact, to an outsider the scene might have been of last minute panic. When the moment of truth came, we all realized that those two weeks made the difference between success and failure.

The spectators began to arrive at noon and there was a stream of cars until 300 people had assembled in front of Davis House. Despite the numerous guests a more critical and practical eye was needed. This spot was filled by the inspecting officer Commodore J. A. Charles, Director of Maritime Forces, Royal Canadian Navy.

The parade began at 2:00 p.m., and was a spectacular exhibition from beginning to end. It consisted of the march-on, inspection of the four platoons and march off, the second march-on, presentation of prizes, and the final march off. During the intermission displays were presented by the band, the first aid and map reading groups. The finale consisted of the second march-on, presentation of prizes, and the final march off. The awards were presented by Commodore J. A. Charles, and are as follows:

1) Strathcona Trust Medal for the Outstanding Cadet—Cadet Captain P. Weintrager.

2) Capt. L. G. McGilton Cup for best platoon drill—accepted by John P. Hardy, on behalf of the band.

3) 72nd Battery Award for Markmanship—Cadet Major T. Wrathall

4) Royal Canadian Legion Shield for Best Non-Commissioned Officer—Cadet Warrant Officer Class 2 David Reed.

5) 2nd Field Regiment Trophy for the most proficient Cadet—Thomas Wrathall

6) The Headmasters Award for the best Bubgee Cadet—Bruce Marshall

As usual, the eyes of the parents did not see mistakes and the event was a big success among them. What is more important was the impression made upon Commodore Charles. He was externally impressed, and although each platoon could not receive an award, all cadets deserved credit for the effort put forth in the coordination, smoothness, and all round impressions of the events of the day.

Grade X Ottawa Trip

After classes on April 28, 1966, grade ten accompanied by Mr. Graham, Geography Master and Mr. Higginbotham, History master left by bus for Ottawa and a visit to some of the more prominent attractions of our nation's capital. The group arrived at 9:30 that evening and spent the night at the Lord Elgin Hotel in downtown Ottawa, not far from the Houses of Parliament. The following day's activities started in the morning with a tour of the Mint at 9:30. At the Mint we were shown the complete process involved in producing Canada's coinage. At 11:00 we arrived on Parliament Hill where we toured the main buildings visiting the library, the House of Commons, the Senate, and the Peace tower. Through the assistance of Mr. Forest, the Stanstead federal M.P., we were able to observe the Commons in session at the question and answer period, which proved to be the highlight of the trip. At 2:00 we arrived at National Gallery where we had the opportunity of viewing some of Canada's art treasure. That afternoon at 3:30 we were on the road towards home again, and arrived back at Stanstead at 9:30 that night.

The trip was originally planned with the thought that it would act as a good supplement to the course of study of grade ten this year. However, much of the grade found the trip even more enjoyable than expected and were thus instilled with a new and more correct concept of Ottawa and the administration of our country.

Drama Workshop

This is the first year in Stanstead's existence, that the school play took part in a 'Drama Workshop'. The workshop was held at Bishop's College School on April 30, 1966. Stanstead was only one of the six participants which included St. George's School, Lower Canada College, both from Montreal, King's Hall School from Compton, Knowlton High School, and Bishop's College School.

As the name indicates, the general purpose of such an event is not a form of competition, but an occasion where a production is attended by a critic, and other people interested in drama, and receiving a critique of a performance from an impartial viewpoint. The criticism is a true and sincere one, a form of criticism which a High School play does not always receive. Mr. Howard Rhyspan, a well established actor having wide experience in the dramatic field, noted the pros, and mainly the cons of each production from a 'complete stranger' outlook. Not being a parent, or a relative or in any way connected with the productions, he was able to give criticisms of the weak points of each presentation. Each school watched the productions of the other schools and formed their own opinions. They had the opportunity to watch others do what they had to do, and to see just what is the acting ability on a high school level.

Stanstead produced their first production of the season entitled, "Not in the Book". Mr. Rhyspan gave a very worthwhile opinion on the various aspects of Stanstead's presentation, and for us, we feel that this workshop was a great help, and hope that such an event shall be carried on in the years to come.

The Special Play

A play, The Long and the Short and the Tall, written by Willis Hall, was produced and directed by John P. Hardy, a student at Stanstead College, and was presented as a dedication to Mr. E. C. Cayley, and Mrs. Cayley who will be leaving the school at the end of June.

This was an all student effort and the cast did a magnificent piece of acting. Douglas Zigby as Sgt. Mitchem, Gordon Fisher as Cpl. Johnstone, James Stockwell as L-Cpl. Macleish, Peter Maysenhoelder as Pte. Whitaker, Tom Garland as Pte. Evans, Geoff Bloch as Pte. Bamforth and Douglas Lamont as the Japanese soldier. Michael Boulton was the B.B.C. announcer.

The scene was in the Malayan jungle during the Japanese advance on Singapore early in 1942. In the afternoon setting the Japanese are being held by the British forces 20 miles to the north, The British Far East Command was centred in Singapore an apparently impregnable fortress 400 miles to the south. The Malay Peninsula was occupied by British forces, many of them inexperienced and unused to jungle warfare.

The players portrayed their fears, hopes and feelings of friendliness to a captured Japanese prisoner in their jungle hut.

There was wit and comedy added for good measure and the play was much enjoyed on Saturday night by a full house of parents and friends of the boys, many of whom had come from a distance, and others from the boundary communities. Friday evening the play was presented to the student body.

After the cast and John Hardy had received considerable applause and several curtain calls, the technical crew of Anthony Sharp, Herschel Gotteil, Melvin Kanen, John Freedman, David Fasken, Clifford Lusby, Taylor Roman, Brian George and Graham Carruthers as stage hands, sound effects, lighting, make-up, and stage manager came on stage and received their due credit.

John Hardy invited Mr. Cayley and Mrs. Cayley to come up on the stage, where he presented Mrs. Cayley with a bouquet of red roses and Mr. Cayley with a filled photograph album.

Mr. Cayley expressed his appreciation and all adjourned to the reception room for coffee.

The 1966 Grad Dance

On the night of April 4 the Windsor Hotel, Montreal was the scene of Stanstead's 1966 Graduation Dance. At nine in the evening almost every member of the graduating classes and their "dates" began gathering at the Windsor for what was to prove the social event of the school year. We were all very pleased to have with us various members of the staff, including Mr. and Mrs. Phillip, Mr. and Mrs. Gallant, Mr. Higginbotham, Mr. Williams, and of course Mr. and Mrs. Cayley.

The dance itself got on the way with the music by the band from the Windsor Hotel. The music was good, and in a short time everybody had got to know each other. The evening had got off to a good start. At around 11:30 buffet supper was served and everyone took the opportunity to rest from all the dancing.

After the dance was over practically everybody arrived at Hersch's in Mount Royal. Here, at around 1:00 A.M. the post grad got on its way. Entertainment was provided by the fabulous Associates, and a large juke box was installed. Scenes we will never forget: Doug Lamont and his date with their famous disappearing act, John Hardy "et teeter totter avec le drum stool", the arrival of the staff at 4:30, and the feature act, Rip Van Winkle Chantler sleeping like a baby. At 7:00 we all arrived at J. P. H. s place for a welcome breakfast party and the evening was officially closed.

Junior Basketball

This year, for the first time, Stanstead entered teams in a league which pitted us against such strong American schools as Newport and Sacred Heart High Schools in Newport Vt. Since our Junior team was short on experience, having previously played only a handful of exhibition games in previous seasons, we were considered as definite underdogs. Our boys, unfortunately, took this role a bit too seriously and ended up losing all league games. After losing our first few games by rather one-sided scores defeat became a habit. I think, if we had been able to win one game, or even come close enough to put up a fight, we might have shelved the habit and won a few more. As it is we didn't and our losing streak carried over to our two games with L.C.C. which we also lost. Mr. Williams, our long suffering coach, attempted to correct the faults during our practises but except for a few fleeting moments we were unable to get untracked.

This season however we learned one thing and that was to be good losers.

Senior Basketball

To correctly evaluate the Senior Basketball season this year is a difficult proposition to say the least. The score sheet tells one story, and the vast improvements in the team's technique tells a different one. The team's losses cannot be attributed to any shortcomings other than the relative inexperience in comparison to the teams we played.

It must be noted that this year was Stanstead's first in the American dominated Northern Border League. The teams that beat us, fairly, and were in all cases better than we. The games we won were well played and a feather in the hat of the whole squad.

In regard to genuine effort and spirit, no game was a bad one for us. Special mention must go to Lindsay

Black, our captain and veteran from Sunnyside, also Bruce Wilkie, and Larry Barakett for their sportsmanship, and extra effort which they contributed.

Perhaps the most gratifying games of the season were the games against L.C.C. in which we won the two game total series by one point. They were two of the more rewarding games of the year, and added immeasurably to the team's morale.

Sufficient tribute however has not yet been paid to the centre and inspiration of the team Mr. Philip. As a coach and teacher he did an excellent job and won the respect of the team.

Ski Team

This year skiing at Stanstead made a desperate attempt to establish itself as a major sport. Thanks to the efforts of Mr. Patterson and Mr. Johncox this was partly accomplished. The team was required to practice both downhill and cross-country skiing since these would be the two events run off at any meet. However, the experience gained was invaluable. Bad luck accompanied the team in 1966 as a conflicting schedule of events and a storm prevented them from attending four meets.

Last year skiing was hampered by too little snow, this year the biggest event of the season, an all-weekend affair at St. Sauvier, was cancelled due to a blizzard. In the contest with Bishops College School the team was defeated but many fine racing points were picked up, especially in the cross-country race. In the other meet with Sterling School, the team was once again defeated but the score was very close and there might have been a different story had Cliff Lusby been there.

This year's record wasn't as illustrious as that of other years, but the record cannot show the fun and enthusiasm this season produced.

It started off rather badly when our inexperienced team met the pick of the B.C.S. Bantams. As the season wore on, the team gradually improved, and the margin of goals narrowed. The first highlight of the season came at the return match with B.C.S. at their own arena.

The game started off with a quick goal for Stanstead on a powerful rush. The period passed on as the two teams pressed hard at each other heels, but the score remained 1-0. The second period was the same hard, fast, hockey. Midway through the period, Stanstead managed to squeeze in another goal after a scramble in front of the net. The third period was by far the most exciting. As Stanstead kept up the rush, the Bishop's defence cracked down. Near the end of the game Stanstead scored three spectacular goals, and went on to win the game.

The team especially owes its thanks to Mr. Gallant, the coach. As his first year in coaching a hockey team, he made a team out of boys who were new to the game.

John Miner.

The game started normally, but it turned out differently. It was the first game in the playoffs against Rock Island and it was the third period with the score 2-2. In the opening minutes Stanstead scored but in a few minutes Rock Island tied the score for the third time in the game. Half way Stanstead took the lead again but it was in vain for the last minute saw Rock Island score the Equalizer.

Not all games were as nerve-racking and discouraging as this. On the whole the Midgets had a good year though they had their up and downs as L.C.C. was their record low and Holderness their high point. The Midgets had a few members of last years "winning team", but most of the team were new to the "Big League".

There wasn't a happier man in North America on the night of Feb. 22 when Stanstead beat B.C.S. than Mr. Boyd. The game began with Stanstead scoring quickly in the first period with a 40 foot slap shot from Tommy Asselin. Mid-way through the second period Tom Garland left the B.C.S. goalie wondering as he slipped under his pads to make the score 2-0. However B.C.S. scored on a screen shot and left the score 2-1 in the second period. In the third period however Stanstead played the best hockey possible. An iron clad defense led by Ian Cook and some brilliant saves by Peter Sharp led to a final score of 2-1 for Stanstead. Ecstasy knew no bounds.

Worthy of mention was our win against L.C.C. 3-2 and the Old Boys 8-4.

Perhaps the heart breaker of the year was our 3-2 loss against Ashbury with only seconds left. In this game the team played very poorly in the first two periods, but rallied to tie the score only to lose in the end. Credit must go to Mr. Boyd for his help, advice, and encouragement for getting the season to the unqualified success which it was.

Junior Soccer

This year the Junior Soccer team was a success despite the fact that the game record does not show a glorious season. The season was comprised of two wins, five losses, and three ties.

The team evolved from the sorry group of new boys along with a few old regulars. After the first couple of practices the daily scrimmages became spirited, and the game of soccer ceased to be a bore. With time the team improved, and they gave the opposition a run for their money.

The team started the season badly, and they lost the first three games. However, with constant practice, the team improved, and they managed to tie the next two scoreless games.

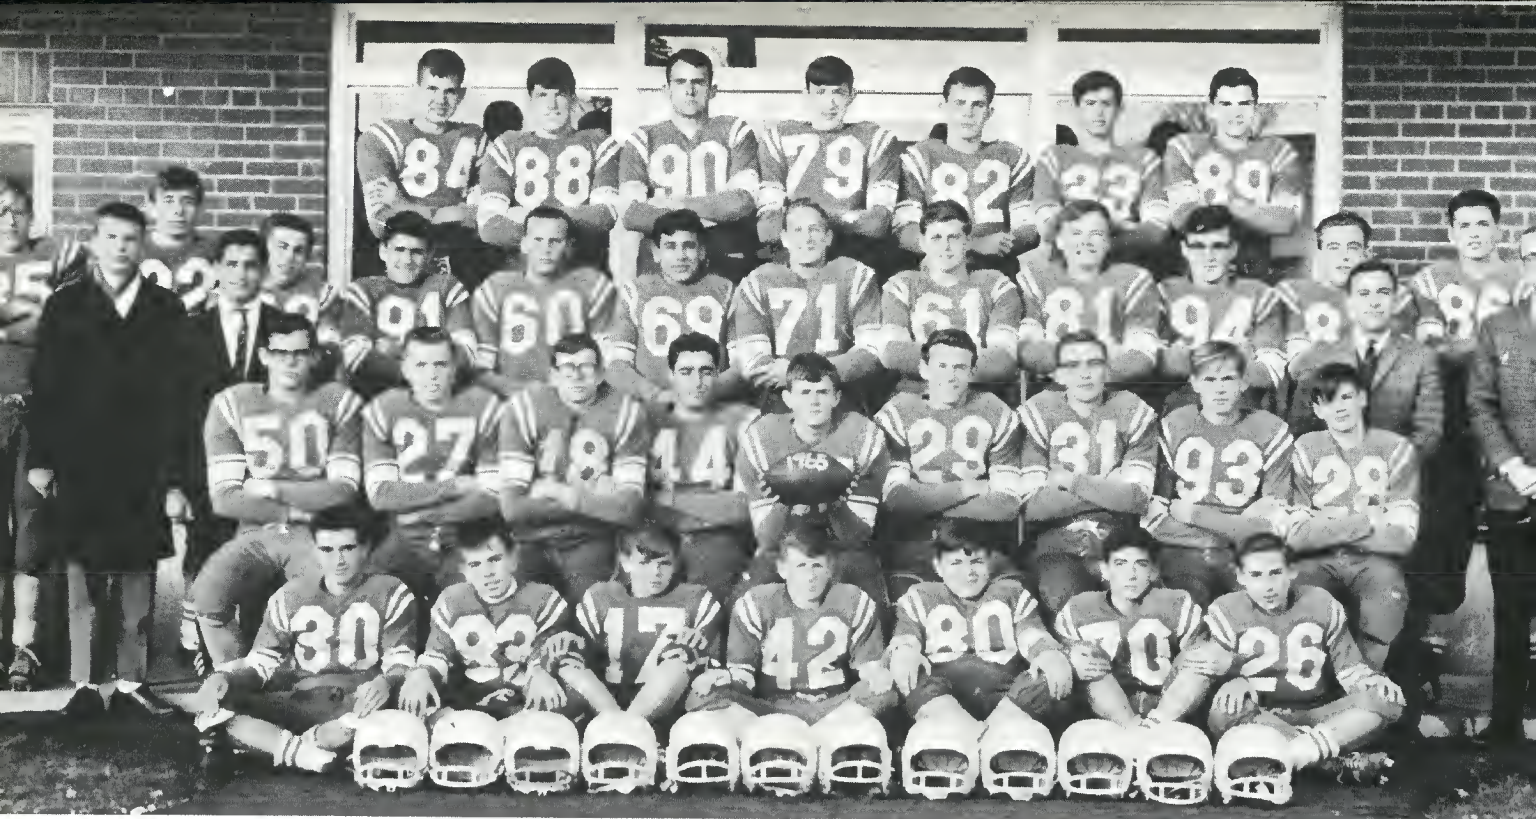

The highlight of the season came when the Junior Soccer team played their return match with B.C.S. The game was held on an overcast day, and it rained sporadically throughout the day. The two rivals met on the field with high hopes. Stanstead won the ball from the face-off and whisked it downfield. A well-placed shot put them in front in the opening minute of the game. With the unfavourable conditions, the game was a true test of skill. Again the ball whistled past the opposing goaler, and Stanstead went on to win 2-0.

The game with Ashbury ended with 3-0 loss. The next game against Lennoxville was a 1-0 victory. The game was a particular triumph because snow covered the entire field, making the game very difficult.

The return match with Notre Dame was evenly matched and the game remained scoreless. The final game of the season against Stirling was a bad break, and Stirling won 2-0.

Many thanks should be given to Mr. Patterson, who devoted much time and effort to shape the Junior Soccer team.

Junior Football

The Junior Football Team played their final game on a cool, and windy day last November. From the start of the game until the last crunching tackle, the red and white clad Juniors, showed a marked superiority over their blue and gold Quebec High rivals. Many times the Quebec runner literally disappeared under waves of Stanstead tacklers, they were always stopped with little or no yardage. The result was a convincing 15-0 victory, their first and only one of the year.

In the beginning of September about 35 boys assembled in bright red sweat suits on the Junior Football field in back of Colby House. Two weeks of intensive training followed, conducted by Mr. Boyd and Mr. Higginbotham. Every afternoon rain or shine the team could be seen running, blocking, tackling and later scrimmaging. Enthusiasm as well as sweat dripped from everyone during those warm days of September and October.

The team first game was against Selwyn House Senior team. Unfortunately this one was more experienced, and an embarrassing 36-0 loss. On some games even the elements were against them. In Chomedy for instance the game was played in three inches of mud and water.

It was a different story on their return match against Bishops. With furious determination they battled them to a 25-19 loss, as time ran out on Bishops ten yard line.

The spirit of the team from the start to the finish of the season was extremely good. The patience and encouragement of the coaches in teaching the game especially to the more inexperienced players was most appreciated. The confidence of Mr. Boyd and Mr. Higginbotham squashed any pessimistic or complaining voice. All in all the season can be termed successful in that it laid the foundations for next years team.

At the Athletic Assembly six boys received their Junior "S" for their outstanding contribution to the team. They were F. Singleton (captain), B. Eastwood, D. Hanrieder, B. Cox, R. McAllister, and D. Lamont.

Senior Soccer

Mr. Gallant, at the Athletic Assembly baek in November, neatly summed up our season. He said that it was one in which we came out on the losing end as to our won-lost record, however, had the season been just a couple of weeks longer the team would have given the league leaders a good fight.

The season started way back during the first week in September and on the whole it was a pretty mixed group of boys that turned out to the first praetiee. Out of the old boys only Peter Weintrager and Peter Sharp were left. The majority of the team was made up of some strong Junior players of last year, while there was the sprinkling of new boys who held us in good stead.

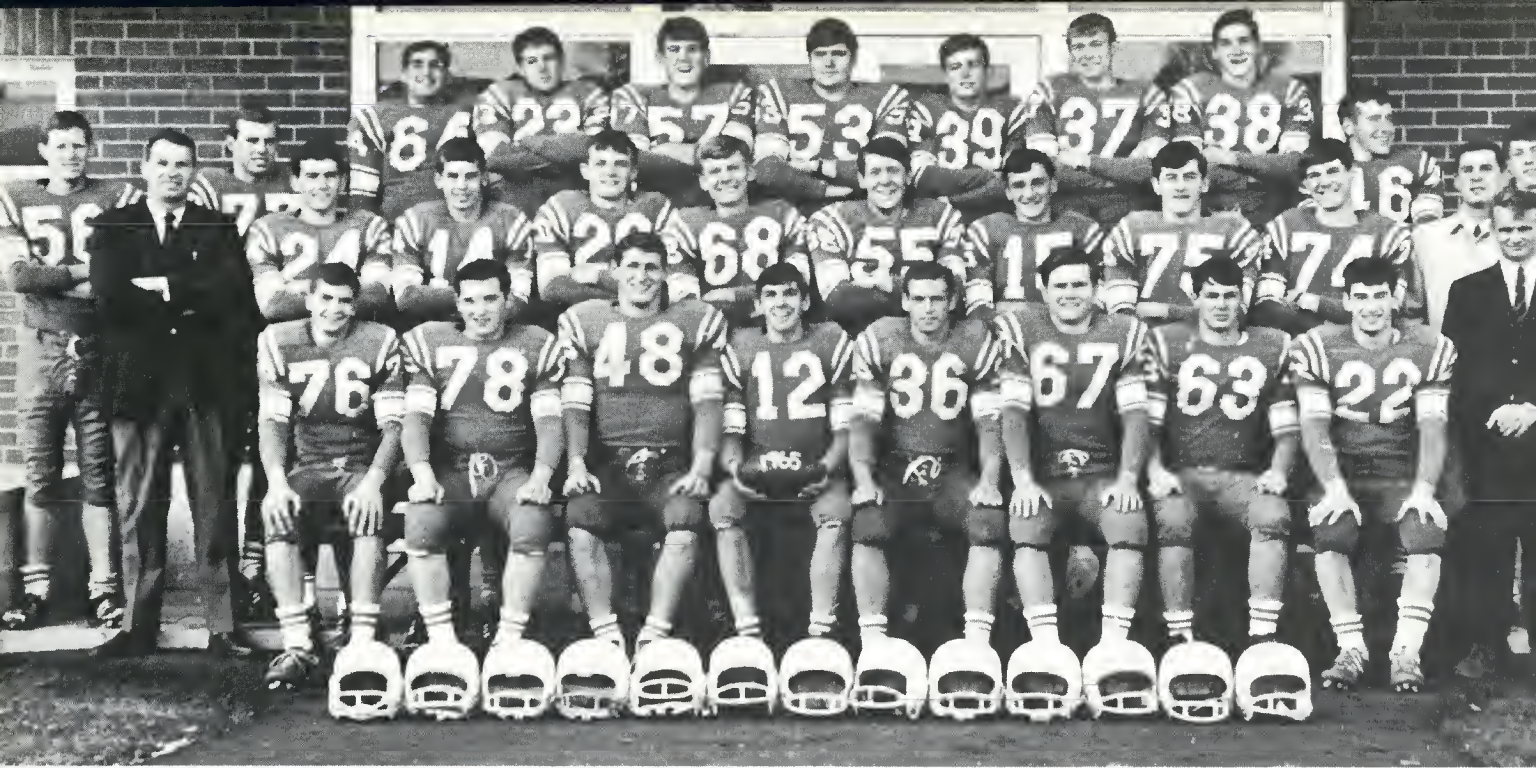

The season opened to an exhibition game against Newport. In this game the team played as well as could be expected of a recently formed team but lost the game due to penalty shots.

Our second game against Bishops saw us badly beaten by strong B.C.S. team 4-1. Upon the return game at Stanstead, things worked out differently. We lost to Bishop's 2-1 that time.

The game enjoyed most by all surprisingly enough, was our worst defeat. This was against Ashbury. For the first time in 6 years Ashbury visited us and we played at home. The seore was a rather dismal 6-0 in favour of Ashbury. However, we were treated to a picture of how the game should be played, and the whole team gained something from the game.

In elosing, the whole team extends their thanks to Mr. Gallant for his assistance and help in coaching the team.

Senior Football

The Senior team of 1965 had only 2 returning lettermen and to say the least Mr. Philip, the head coach, was a little disappointed when only 26 players showed up for the opening Fall practises.

Mr. Lindsay Smith a Stanstead old boy, was brought in to keep on with the coaching. Both Mr. Philip and Mr. Smith did a fine coaching job, and the team certainly appreciated all the valuable time Mr. Smith gave up in helping them.

The highlight of the season would have to be the Ashbury Game in Montreal where the Redmen defeated Ashbury 22-13 before a large number of parents and a very fine turnout of old boys, especially after being defeated by Stanstead in the opening game 12-6.

The team was captained this year by Tom Garland, the quarterback and a second year man Ross Taylor was the individual rushing leader, top scorer, and he was rewarded with the W. A. Ketchen Trophy. Other lettermen were Hershel Gottheil, Douglas Hendry, both two-way men, Larry Barakett and Chuck Anderson. Honorable mention should go to Bruce Wilkie as his many dazzling catches were certainly a highlight of the Season.

THE FALL SPORTS BANQUET

The school met in Pierce Hall for the first of the three Athletic Assemblies held at the conclusion of each term. Mr. Cayley opened the Assembly by commenting briefly on how the teams acted as a whole. He stated that school spirit had risen since last year, and apart from the actual won-lost record, which was mediocre, the term had been a good one.

The various coaches of the four teams gave brief addresses summing up their own individual team's records. In Senior Football there were three new lettermen made, Ross Taylor, Chuck Anderson, and defensive captain, Doug Hendry. In Senior Soccer two players received their sweaters Mel Kanen and Bob Gemmel. To end the actual prize giving Dr. Roberts, the guest speaker presented Ross Taylor with the most valuable player award.

This having been completed Dr. Roberts made his address. Dr. Roberts, who is an Old Boy, is presently coach of the McGill backfield. His address concerned the over stressing of athletics in a high school curriculum was taken seriously by all. He maintained that although athletics were essential for a well rounded character, academic distinction was far more important.

The evening was closed by viewing last years Gray Cup Game.

THE CHOIR

The 1966 Choir was formed at the beginning of the month of November and at the first practice showed a fine turnout of true "harmonious voices" (at least as harmonious as an 'all boys' school can provide).

Each year the choir is organized with the purpose of performing at the annual Christmas Carol Service and at the Baccalaureate Service, which take place at the closing of the school year.

At the Carol Service the choir sang three anthems and led the congregation singing.

A great deal of thanks and appreciation should be extended to Mrs. McClary and Mrs. Gordon for all the time and help provided in the organization and establishment of this years choir.

The Spectrum Team

If Stanstead ever decided to publish a daily may God have mercy on the staff. This year's Spectrum team waged a continual war with students to hand in write-ups and photographs on time. The brunt of this lack of effort fell on our understanding Staff Advisor Mr. Graham, who promptly transferred it to the Editor Peter Sharp, who distributed the "rockets" evenly throughout the remainder of the staff. It is hoped that next year there will be greater co-operation between Spectrum staff and the school as a whole as to deadlines and the rest.

Much credit, however, must go to John Brynildsen and the boys in advertising who quickly found out that there was no lack of financial support for the book. James Boast was a very able assistant in the laying out of the pages. Peter Sharp must be given credit for his needling of all concerned.

Once again we must thank Mr. Graham for his constant aid in the publication of this year's Spectrum.

Peter Sharp

ROYAL CANADIAN NAVAL BAND

Mr. Cayley's plans this year of exposing the school to a variety of culture touched on another aspect besides the classical one. In November the school was fortunate in being given the privilege of listening and watching a performance of the Royal Canadian Naval Band in our own Amaron Gymnasium. The performance was open to the public and 150 people from the town attended as well as the 150 Stanstead boys and staff.

One would ordinarily assume that such a band would concentrate on marches and other music of a similar theme. The audience was pleasantly surprised when Broadway hits, jazz, and even some modified rock music was suddenly being produced with the polished professionalism and perfection naturally associated with a military group. The program was found to be well-rounded and excellently executed; all of which added up to a memorable and entirely enjoyable evening.

FALL DANCE

The end of the Fall half term was accompanied by the first dance with Kings Hall. This year the date was Saturday, November sixth. The girls arrived at one-thirty in time to see the senior football team play Quebec City High School. There was a tea and an excellent buffet supper from four until six which gave the boys and their guests a chance to get acquainted.

The dance started directly after the meal. Pierce Hall had been painstakingly decorated the previous night by the Lettermen and volunteers with the theme of A Fishing Village. Upon entering there was not one person unimpressed by the stunning effectiveness of the decor. A band called the Charades had been hired to play. From the beginning everybody enjoyed themselves. A perhaps more unexpected event of the evening was the appearance of the school's rock and roll band, the "Associates". It consisted of Paul Hoerig and David Cosco on lead and bass guitars respectively Melvin Kanen on tenor sax, John Hardy on drums, and Peter Sharp lead vocalist. They made two appearances through the dance and surprised the Charades by presenting them with some worthy competition.

On the whole, the day may be considered a very successful and enjoyable one due to the many efforts of many people. The only sad note came when 9:30 rolled around and the girls had to leave, but as the saying goes, "All good things must come to an end."

JEUNESSES MUSICALES

Our first Jeunesses Musicales concert featured Gaston Germain a young French-Canadian opera singer. He began by singing, in his deep bass voice some Italian, German and French opera songs. He ended with some negro spirituals which were certainly the best part of his performance.

In our second J.M.C. concert a group called the Brussels Woodwind Quintet played classical compositions from Germany and France. One member of the quintet explained the origin of the different instruments.

Our third concert was to hear Claud Heffler a noted J.M.C. pianist. He played some uncommon works by Bach, Beethoven, and Bartok, occasionally interrupting his recital to give the characteristics of those composers.

The fourth concert was our last which featured the Oxford Quartet, whose playing was undoubtedly superb.

THE ASSOCIATES

It was no news to anybody that strange sounds had been issuing from Pierce Hall early, in the first term. These sounds finally manifested themselves in, "The Associates" a musical group made up of boys from grades 11 and 12. The whole thing can really be blamed on Paul Hoerig as he was the leader of the group. Paul played lead guitar. Dave Cosco who could forever be seen picking out bass parts. Mel Kanen filled in with his sax and John P. Hardy kept the beat on his drums. Peter Sharp with his ever present "goose head", tambourine did all the lead singing.

New Boys' Race

The beginning of every school year at Stanstead is traditionally marked with the initiation of the New Boys. The first phase this year took place on the afternoon of Saturday, September 18th and consisted, as always of a pleasant two-mile jaunt through some of the more seenie territory surrounding the college.

The course was plotted by the Prefects and House Officers (with great care) as to avoid any obstacles which could, perhaps, spoil the fun. During the race there was an old boy at every possible point to give the runners helpful hints of guidance. Despite these intensive efforts, however, the majority of the boys succeeded in thoroughly soaking themselves in muddy water and then covering themselves with thorns and thistles of different varieties.

The last leg of the race consisted of a number of river-crossings, climaxed by the climbing of infirmity hill. Douglas Lamont seemed always in the lead and topped the hill in good style to win for himself both a race and a reputation.

With the completion of the event, and Mr. Cayley's personal pat-on-the back, the boys then retired to the showers for what, quite possibly, might have been their most gratifying part of the day.

New Boys' Show

On the night of Wednesday, November 10th, the New Boys show completed this phase of their initiation. In the previous two weeks, Stanstead resembled a school of Broadway theatrics offering academics as an extra curricular activity. The results proved worth the confusion, however, and the evening was an appropriate note on which to end the first and most strenuous half-term.

The show itself consisted of skits and acts composed and executed by the new boys under the supervision of Mr. Williams and Mr. Winsor. Some of the more notable aspects of the night were skits performed by the Prefects, Ernie Pitt and company, and Graham Caruthers and Company. General consensus of school opinion resolved these three to be the best.

Alan Fraser—folk singer

On the night of September 23 the school was entertained by Alan Fraser a young folk-singer from Sherbrooke. Alan was a guest at dinner at the school and afterwards gave a two hour performance in Pierce Hall before an enthusiastic group of students, staff and a few invited guests.

He sang various selections of folk music written by Pete Seeger, Bob Dylan, Joan Baez and other well-known folksingers. He sang a few of his own songs and the boys often participated by clapping and singing choruses.

Allan is eighteen and presently attending Sherbrooke High School, he has been to Newport (R.I.) Folk Festival several times.

Winter Carnival

In previous years, we have been fortunate with the weather which we have had for our annual winter carnival. So far our run of good luck remains unbroken. Saturday, February 6th dawned crisp and clear with a foot of new snow, fallen the night before, and a fresh, invigorating breeze.

The day began as any other. In fact, to an outsider it might have appeared that Stanstead College was waking up to the regular Saturday routine. But the outsiders illusion would have been quickly shattered with the appearance of Batman at breakfast. From this point on, the school had the hum of excitement to be associated with the Winter Carnival.

The first event, although unscheduled, started on time. This was the snow trampling contest directed by the Prefects and made necessary by the heavy snow-fall.

In the opening events of broomball and obstacle races it became apparent that the Prefects, led by Tom Garland, were out for blood. Junior Colby, however, had a sizeable lead at lunchtime. Numerous partisan comments, which could be heard from time to time during the meal, added to the interhouse rivalry and when the broomball finals commenced, the fur began to fly.

Finally, the girls arrived from King's Hall. All gathered to meet the bus and find out whether their dates had really made it.

Soon, the girls were in the swing of things. The scavenger hunt proved a big success as it consisted of the looting of particular rooms in the school for the necessary material.

All afternoon there were carnival events requiring the girls participation and at four o'clock a hootenany, led by Paul Hoerig and Bruce Wilkie, was organized and proved to be one of the more memorable events of the day. At six o'clock, after an excellent buffet dinner the dance began. There was no doubt that the "Sceptres" the band for the evening, were the best that ever played in Pierce Hall.

During the last intermission, the winner of the Carnival was announced and Bruce MacBride, representing Junior Colby, accepted the prize from Mrs. Cayley.

As usual, the dance ended far too soon to suit many. But it was generally hoped and felt that the day had proved as enjoyable for the girls as it was for us.

The 1966 Play

"Not in the Book"

To prove that the play 'was' in the book, the 1966 Stanstead College Thespian Presentation was entitled "Not in the Book", which a three act comedy, written by Arthur Watkyn.

Being a group organized at the beginning of December, the Stanstead College Dramatic's Club began frequent rehearsals and readings with one constant goal in mind to make this the "best play the school has ever had". Rehearsals, in this production, as in all others were 50% of the enjoyment. The crew, be they stage hands or actors, each contributed to make all of the hours spent rehearsing as times we shall not forget for quite some time. Just as we sincerely hope the audience had a few laughs on the three nights the play was presented, we had more than our share of fun producing it. Rehearsals were held, usually four days a week, and when the end drew near, rehearsals took up seven days of the week. The fruits of our toil, were, (as usual) at the discretion of the audience, and taking an approximate total, the play was attended by about 400 people.

As the book itself states, the "Central idea was the blackmailing of a respectable citizen." As a routine theatrical performance, our play had a 'good guy', a 'bad guy', and of course his 'girl', being his wife. The script also called for an innocent bystander, a member of the police department, and a doctor. The nervous nature of our respectable hero, reacting to the various visits of the villain, caused the director a few restless nights, and, we hope, brought a few minutes of enjoyment to all who saw it.

I speak on behalf of the whole stagecrew and actors when I say that our most sincere appreciation and thanks go to Mr. Patterson, Mr. Winsor, Mr. Johncox, and Mrs. Graham, for making this years play the success it proved to be,—also to thank all those who attended, for doing so, and we hope we brightened the evening as we proved our point to always have your coffee black.

Current Affairs Club

This year the club was, as in the past, very active. A series of movies was presented and two of them in particular stood out: Winston Churchill and Mahatma Ghandi. Mr. Cayley gave an interesting introduction to the movie on Churchill and his life. Mr. Thompson, one of the club's staff advisors, presented us with a few facts about what Mahatma Ghandi did for his people.

Then, in October, Mr. Yves Forest, Stanstead County's Liberal candidate in the November election, came to speak to us about his party's policies and views. Many questions were asked and he supplied us with a complete picture of his party's intentions and policies.

Mr. Forest was followed by Mr. Fernand Comptois, the New Democratic Party candidate for this riding. As Mr. Comptois was not very proficient in English he gave us the first part of his speech in English, and Mr. Thompson completed it. Peter Carle, acting as interpreter, translated the many questions and answers.

It was the club's intention to invite Mr. Rene Letourneau, the Conservative candidate, but this was not possible due to illness.

The next project was a model election on November 8 held in the school. Polling stations were opened in each of the three houses and a ballot was given to each student voter as he entered. The Liberal party was declared the winner with a majority.

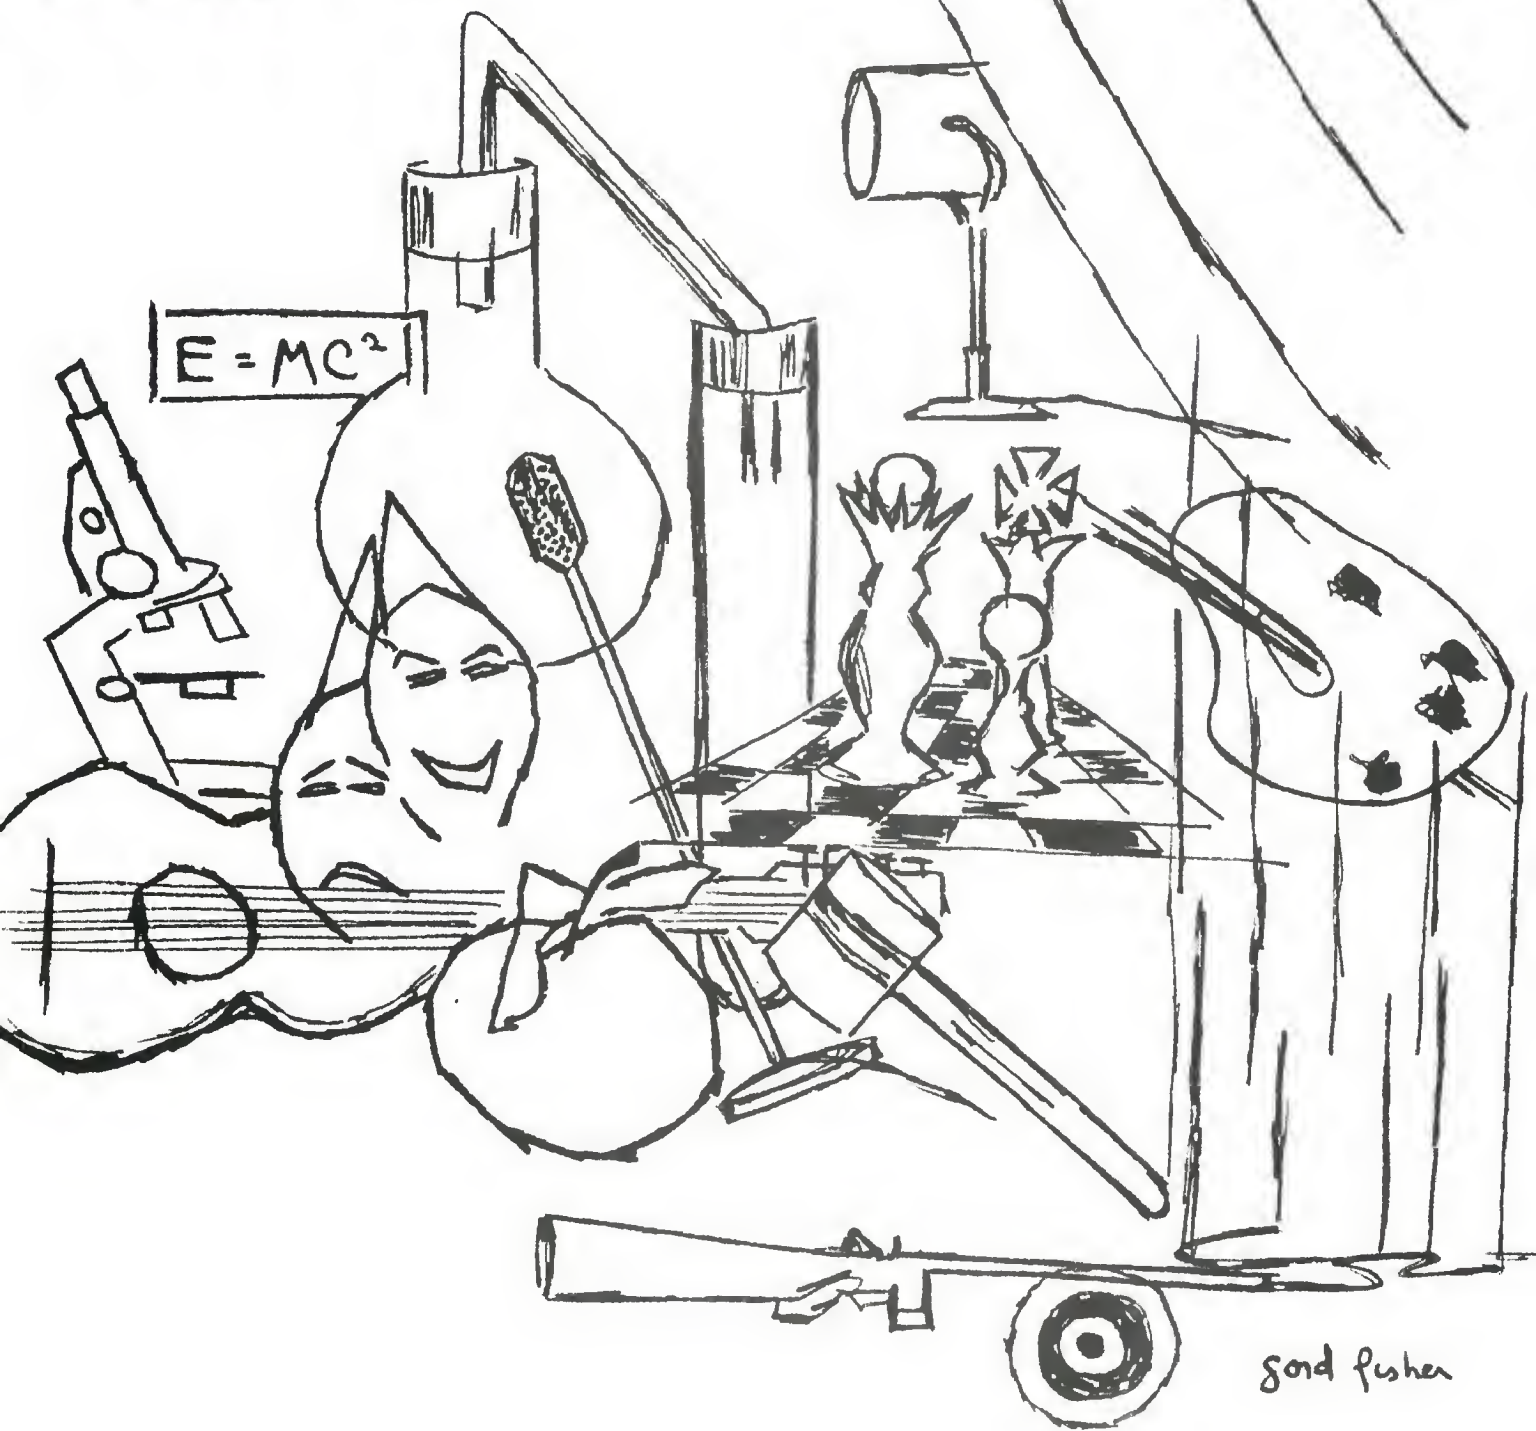

Then, in February, Dr. T. W. L. MacDermot, once a diplomat for Canada, gave us a very interesting and witty talk on the life of a diplomat.

About a week after Dr. MacDermot visited us, we were honored to have Mr. L. Bliss, editor of the Stanstead Journal. Mr. C. Fregeau, Mayor of Rock Island and M. E. Stuthers, mayor of Stanstead, to participate in a panel discussion. Statements and questions dealing with Canadian policies were posed to the panelists and they gave us their opinions. This proved to be a most enjoyable evening.

The club members would sincerely like to thank Mr. Graham and Mr. Thompson for their valuable assistance and their time which they gave to us to help make all these things possible. In Public Speaking Tom Garland won the school contest and went on to the Del Monty Rotary Club where he lost to the Sunnyside speaker.

The Athletic Committee

The Athletic Committee although it might not be known by all, has quite an important responsibility. Its function is to serve as an advisory board in helping formulate and run the Stanstead College Athletic programme.

The committee is composed of three senior members and one junior member. Both Houses are equally represented.

Regular meetings were held by the committee and often short meetings were called to reach decisions on spur-of-the-moment matters.

When the Athletic director, Mr. Philips, was asked to give his opinion on this years athletic committee he said, "once again the Athletic Committee functioned in coordination with the Department of Athletics. I was pleased that the representatives took such an active part in running the athletic programme."

The opening of the 1965-1966 school year witnessed the appointment of three school prefects and four house officers. Peter Weintrager was named Head Prefect, having two hefty auxiliaries in the form of a Tom Garland and a John P. Hardy. Bruce McKelvey, Robert Gemmel, Paul Hoerig, and Tom Wrathall became House Officers, all instituted with the reminder that their positions were not to be taken as privileges but as responsibilities. As the year progressed, Robert Gemmel and Bruce McKelvey were appointed school prefects, and the School House Officers received five eager additions in Brent Moule, Rick Everett, Hersch Gottheil, David Kay, and Dennis Hendrieder. As stated by one of the above, the group did their best to work as a "united front", but all had their own idiosyncracies.

In the "sorrows of the head" of the Immortal Hawk, revolved the troubles of the mass. While Tom gave his frequent Colby pep. rituals J.P.H. had his hands full keeping his house up to human standards. One peeve—being woken up by early morning creepers. As the year progressed each branch of the group received their own common room. The House Officers under the 'persuasive' words of Paul, did an excellent job in the preparation of their 'den of iniquity'. Bruce and Bob keeping calm, in a somewhat longer span of time, created a 'study' in which the prefects attempted to do just that.

The prefects system, as always has been an intermediate level of supervision and discipline aiming at the most lasting value, self discipline.

"The first meeting of the student's council was called to order on Monday, October 4, 1965. The first issue dealt with was with regard to the election of officers, who were elected by the class representatives of each grade of the school. The council was reminded that its constitution called for Parliamentary procedures"—from the minutes.

And so the student's council for the year 1965-66 was established and operated along equal lines throughout the year. Dealing with all aspects of the school (except purely academic matters) the students council, through recommendations and proposals, discussed the life at the school. Some of the chief achievements of this year's council were: the creation of a new school sweater, the organization of the Winter Carnival, and the establishment of a new school tie. Through the council, the school became a member of "The Federation of the Student's Councils of the Private Schools of Quebec" which is an organization established to aid the underprivileged children of Montreal.

Headmaster's Message

It is a sad thought for me that this will be my last message in the Spectrum. Mrs. Cayley and I have become so wrapped up in the school and all its activities that it is going to be a tremendous wrench to have to say goodbye at the end of June. Nevertheless, we will leave knowing that the school is in good hands and you can be sure that we will not forget any of you and will be back to visit as often as we can. The school will be in our thoughts and we wish all of you who will be remaining here the very best of everything.

However, some of you, particularly the graduating class, will no longer be active members of Stanstead College by the time this has been published. The majority of you will be studying at university and a few will already have begun their life's work. Stanstead has meant much to you as it has to me and I hope you will realize how important a strong Alumni is to a school. Its reputation and chance for development rest heavily on what others think of its product and the product is, of course, each one of you. In a sense you owe a good deal to your school and the best way to repay this debt is to represent it properly and to tell the story of its progress to those who are interested. The story is worth telling for, as most of you realize by now, the school's spirit and general character are of the finest and it is turning out people who will get things, and I think the right things, done. It is up to you to make sure that all those with whom you come in contact realize this fact. If you can accomplish this the forward progress of the school will be faster and faster and it will continue to receive applications from worthwhile boys whom it can turn into useful men.

Stanstead College is a fine school. I know that many of you at times have become discouraged here and have had doubts. Then you have visited other schools, compared, and have found that we had something intangible which you could not find elsewhere. Time and time again I have heard this comment made and it has heartened me and strengthened my belief in the school. At times to the young a school seems nothing but a necessary evil but after a time one realizes that it encompasses the most important and formative portion of a person's life. You have added to the school, you have also taken much from it, and I would ask that you continue your interest in it so that the future generations of boys who follow you will be enabled to have the best possible training.

There is warmth about Stanstead which one does not find in too many places. Mrs. Cayley and I have felt this warmth right from the start and have had nothing but kindness and co-operation from the Board of Trustees, the staff, the parents and, most importantly, the boys. To all of you we give our heartfelt thanks and our very best wishes.

—MR. RAYMOND LESTER—

Mr. Lester, Stanstead's new headmaster, comes to us from St. Georges School in Montreal. It is our pleasure to welcome Mr. and Mrs. Lester to the school and wish them the best of luck in the coming years at Stanstead.

Mr. Lester was first headmaster at a school in England about the same size as Stanstead. Emigrating from England he became headmaster of a public school in Saskatchewan. After two years there he gained the headmastership of St. John's Ravenscourt in Winnipeg and from there went on to become headmaster of St. Georges.

Mr. Lester's hobby is drama and he has been instrumental in establishing drama groups in the prairies.

He has three boys who will be attending Stanstead next year in Grades 10, 11 and 12.

Editorial

The year of 1965 will go down in history as the Year Of Protest. All the way around the world from Berkley to Buenos Aires people were demonstrating and protesting. These demonstrations ranged from a support of the Arms Race, to the banning of the Bomb. However there was one common denominator in all of these riots and protest. They were all, practically without exception, led by students and young people.

There seems to be a current penchant among university students to rebel. If any cause needs supporters they can always be gleaned from the rank and file of our university youth the world over. Protesting it seems has almost become an extracurricular activity in college today. However among some of the more enlightened members of these groups this question has been raised. Is this protesting a means to an end, or is it viewed as merely the "in" thing to do.

It cannot be denied that the youth of today are under certain pressures. Among these is the dollar complex whereby one must think of himself as a mere income earning machine. Also there is a pressure to obtain not only a good education, but a status education. We must not forget that there is a war being fought, and the effect of this on the youth of today cannot be calculated. But are these pressures enough to warrant the rebellion against any form of discipline in the guise of a protest march.

If not then we must come to the conclusion that there is something desparately with the character of the youth today. There seems to be an almost intangible something missing. This missing object is discipline, and it needs to found very soon if we as a continent and nation are to emerge unscathed at the end of the present decade.

Here at Stanstead discipline is a matter of course and is not questioned to any great degree. We are literally immersed in it from the moment we arrive until we leave. Through this time those who adjust are given positions of limited responsibility where they may administer discipline. It is therefore in this way that we may come to grips with the matter. Can we as a graduating class say we are any different from those who burned draft cards out in California, or from those students who actively support dissension around the world? Yes I think we can look upon ourselves as different. No matter what any may say about a boarding school education, it has to be admitted that it prepares one for this world by instilling in them a strong sense of responsibility coupled with a knowledge of how to accept discipline. If we have gained this from our years at Stanstead then the school has succeeded in what it set out to do.

Finally I would like to wish all the graduates the best of luck in their continuing education; and to speak for them in thanking all at Stanstead for all they have done for us.

DEDICATION

If in past years there has been discussion as to whom the Annual should be dedicated to, there was absolutely none this year. Mr. and Mrs. Cayley are leaving the school after four years and it is our honour to dedicate this year's Spectrum to them.

I have been here as long as Mr. and Mrs. Cayley and I can honestly say that the school would have been a different place without them. I will not mention the academic side of the Cayley's life, as I know much will be said about that later, but I would merely like to state some of the personal touches that the Cayleys have given to Stanstead.

There are two things I will always associate with Mrs. Cayley and these are her enthusiastic support of any and all school teams, and her assistance during the epidemic of 1964. During that time Mrs. Cayley could be seen at all times or the day and night in every House administering to those that were sick. It was much appreciated at the time, and I wish to make sure it will not be forgotten.

About Mr. Cayley one can say much. Mr. Cayley came to Stanstead in the Fall of 1962 from Holderness School in New Hampshire. Throughout his stay at Stanstead he has endeavoured to add a more personal touch between Staff and Students. Such things as inviting all classes to watch the football games at his house each week are proof of his attempts to get to know the boys better.

One of Mr. Cayley's innovations was the construction of a workable Students Council. This body, since its organization, has made untold contributions to the betterment of the school. In his closing years at Stanstead Mr. Cayley was instrumental in the construction of the gym.

I can say in closing that it has been a pleasure to be taught under Mr. Cayley, and speaking for the school I wish the Cayleys all success upon their return to Holderness next year.
